Who are we?

A storied history lies in wait.

Founded in 1924, Carlisle Country

Club in Carlisle, Pennsylvania is a Private Club offering a complete package of amenities. It has survived hurricanes, floods and tornadoes, an 18-wheeler on the golf course and an emergency landing of a hot air balloon. Arnold Palmer reputedly slept here, and Governor William Scranton was an honorary member. Women consistently have had equal rights on the golf course, and our diverse membership has always included people from many ethnic, religious and racial backgrounds. Since 1924, Carlisle Country Club has been a haven for those eager to experience outstanding golfing opportunities, friendly and open camaraderie, exciting family and social events and respite from the hectic pace of life. A full historical account is available on our website.
